

CINNAMON BEACH

Palm Coast, Florida

Client Project

Lowе Properties, a significant force in the development of Palm Coast, Florida, was planning a gated community of exclusive condominiums and single-family homes. This luxurious neighborhood would be located along a Jack Nicklaus signature golf course and spectacular beach.

Client Need

Lowе Properties wanted an on-site sales center that would blend in with the natural beauty of the landscape. Having worked together previously, Lowе Properties was confident of Williams Scotsman’s ability to quickly design and establish a sales center appropriate for this exclusive setting.

The Williams Scotsman Solution

The sales center that Williams Scotsman provided included two preview rooms, a display area, seven offices for the on-site staff, two restrooms, and a kitchen. In order to properly reflect the upscale quality of the community, attention to detail was emphasized. Upgraded carpeting was installed in the display area along with a bead board ceiling and track lighting. A tray ceiling enhanced the preview room. Large pocket French doors opened onto the custom decking which ran along two sides of the building and provided a marvelous view of the beach. Williams Scotsman selected a Hardi Plank exterior to compliment the natural landscape. A standing seam mansard and copula was installed to finish the look.

The Result

Low Properties was once again pleased with the end result of the sales center and felt it enhanced community sales. They have since contracted Williams Scotsman for additional projects.
